

R4I Opportunities Fund

The CLARE R4I Opportunities Fund supports the translation of research and existing knowledge resources into practical applications and empowers organisations in the Global South to apply climate adaptation research.

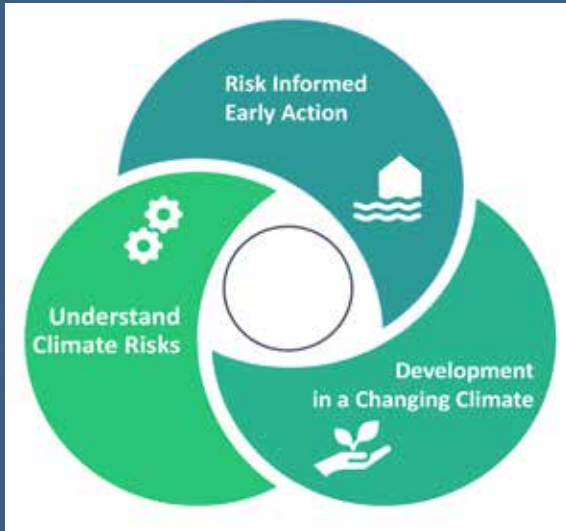

The CLARE R4I Opportunities Fund will not support any new primary research.

Who We Are

Climate Adaptation and REsilience, CLARE, a UK-Canada framework research programme, aims to enable socially inclusive and sustainable action to build resilience to climate change and natural hazards.

CLARE research bridges the critical gaps between science and action by supporting partners to use evidence, capacity building and innovation to drive effective solutions to the climate challenge.

R4I Opportunities Fund Process

Who is eligible ?

- The Fund supports the needs of
- government
  - quasi-government agencies
  - non-government organisations; and
  - civil society organisations

The Fund will identify and leverage existing research alongside in-country partners across Africa and Asia-Pacific to support transformative adaptation and resilience-building to put evidence into action.

Mapping available research
Programme outputs will be strategically mapped to identify potential entry points for future evidence requests

Scoping demand
The R4I team engages with potential beneficiaries to assess demand for opportunities that enable the use of research for actionable outcomes

Opportunities Fund Project
Researchers will be contracted to tailor existing research to deliver actionable outcomes and meet the expressed needs
